

REPRESENTATIVES FOR SEVERELY DISABLED PERSONS

Will my disability be taken into account in the application process? Can I study/work well with my impairment? Where can I get support? Our representatives for severely disabled students help you to find the right support, answer your questions and help you to clarify your personal concerns in a differentiated way.

MENTAL HEALTH FIRST AID

Among the most common mental illnesses in Germany are anxiety disorders, depression and substance abuse and dependence. At the same time, many people are unaware of individual mental illnesses and how to deal with those affected. At the university, certified MHFA first aiders (Mental Health First Aid) are available to support you and inform you about support services.

ADDICTION OFFICER

The addiction officer is the contact person for employees and superiors on questions about addiction prevention and addiction. The aim is to prevent the development of addictive diseases and to contribute to the responsible use of addictive substances by providing comprehensive information. As part of the university's duty of care as an employer, employees with addictions should be helped confidentially to overcome their addiction and reintegrate.

WORRY LINE*

Whether it's the start of your studies, a stressful exam period, an internship, stress with fellow students or teachers – everyone needs a sympathetic ear during their studies. For this purpose, students can use the University of Erfurt's worry line – from students for students. During the lecture period, the hotline is available daily from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. and on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 8 a.m. to noon. By the way: Anyone who would like to help their fellow students and participate in the hotline is also very welcome.
